MEDIA RELEASE

Sibanye-Stillwater appeals the US International Trade Commission's decision on palladium imports

Johannesburg, 21 July 2026: Sibanye-Stillwater (Tickers JSE: SSW and NYSE: SBSW) notes the United States (US) International Trade Commission's (ITC) recent finding that imports of Russian palladium, while significant, did not materially impact US pricing or pose an imminent threat to the domestic industry. This follows the US Department of Commerce (ITA) finding that such Russian palladium had been unfairly subsidised and dumped into the US market at less than fair value (as derived by the ITA), (refer to the Media Release of 13 February 2026).

The Company is of the view that the ITC did not adequately consider certain legal issues which, when correctly interpreted, demonstrate that this illegal dumping and subsidisation contributed to depressed global palladium prices. On 16 July 2026, the Company filed a summons with the US Court of International Trade appealing the ITC's finding. As the sole primary US producer of palladium and given the ongoing importance of ensuring a resilient and responsibly sourced domestic supply of this critical mineral, the Company will continue to pursue all available US trade remedies to protect and sustain a viable domestic palladium industry.
