MEDIA RELEASE

Update: Employees are being hoisted to surface at Sibanye-Stillwater's Thembelani mine

Johannesburg, 30 April 2019: Sibanye-Stillwater (Tickers JSE: SGL and NYSE: SBGL) is pleased to advise that it has concluded the inspection of the Thembelani shaft and begun to hoist employees from underground.

The shaft inspection confirmed that it was safe to hoist employees from the 14th level of the Thembelani shaft. More than 1,500 employees have been safely brought to surface, with the remaining employees being gradually hoisted to surface.

There have been no injuries reported and a further update will be provide in due course.

Background: At about 13:00 today, some rails which were being transported underground at the Thembelani shaft, Rustenburg, whilst being slung under the conveyance, came loose and fell down the shaft. While an inspection were performed by the shaft personnel, approximately 1,800 day shift employees were waiting at the shaft stations at the Thembelani shaft.
