AngloGold Beats Operating Guidance; Growth Projects on Schedule

- ❖ Q2 production 1,073Moz beats guidance; strong performances from Continental Africa and Americas.
- ❖ Q2 total cash costs $801/oz, better than guidance due to improved volumes, weaker local currencies.
- ❖ Q2 Adjusted headline earnings of $253m, or 65 US cents a share.
- ❖ Projects on budget and on schedule; Tropicana first gold expected by end of next year.
- ❖ Completed acquisition of residual 50% stake in Serra Grande
- ❖ Record First-Half EBITDA of $1.47bn achieved in seasonally weaker first half.
- ❖ Revolving Credit Facility of $1bn refinanced at competitive rates and extends maturity.
- ❖ $750m 10-year, investment-grade rated bond issued at 5.125% coupon³; significantly oversubscribed.
- ❖ Completed acquisition of Mine Waste Solutions ($335m) for additional gold and uranium production.

(ANGLOGOLD ASHANTI) – AngloGold Ashanti improved on cost and production guidance for the second quarter and kept its four key growth projects on track and budget despite challenging operating conditions for the global gold sector.

The expansion of the Cripple Creek & Victor mine in Colorado, as well as the development of the Kibali and Mongbwalu mines in the Democratic Republic of Congo and the new Tropicana mine in Western Australia all remain on track. Tropicana is expected to be first to production, with its initial gold pour expected in the fourth quarter of 2013.

AngloGold Ashanti has seen earnings before interest, tax, depreciation and amortization increase almost threefold since introducing a new operating model in 2008. The company has eliminated its hedge book to gain full exposure to the gold price, strengthened its balance sheet and introduced its Project ONE business improvement initiative to increase leverage to the gold price and drive consistently higher returns on capital. The final leg of its strategy is to increase production and improve the quality of the portfolio through the development of the new projects.

“It was a strong operating quarter and we’ve kept our projects firmly on track,” AngloGold Ashanti Chief Executive Officer Mark Cutifani said. “We’ve been driving this business hard to sustainably deliver industry-leading returns and we’re continuing on that path.”

To provide funding for its projects and extend the maturity of its debt, AngloGold Ashanti refinanced its $1bn revolving credit facility to now mature in 2017 and also completed the successful issue of a $750m, 10-year investment-grade rated bond³ at a competitive coupon of 5.125%, below that of its existing rated bonds. The issue was significantly oversubscribed and completed in a volatile market, amidst a worsening European crisis and just days after Moody’s issued a negative outlook on three AAA rated European countries.

Second Quarter

Adjusted headline earnings in the three months to June 30 were $253m, or 65 US cents a share, compared with $342m, or 89 US cents the previous year. The difference in adjusted headline earnings was caused, in part, by planned higher expenditure on exploration and corporate costs; a higher tax charge, given that the benefit of hedge and other losses have been utilised; and the once-off benefit of $30m to adjusted headline earnings a year earlier, from the sale of the Ayanfuri royalty. Gold price received fell 5% for the quarter to $1607/oz.

Production during the quarter was 1.073Moz at a total cash cost of $801/oz, better than guidance of 1.04Moz at $840/oz-$845/oz. The operating result was assisted by strong performances from the Continental Africa and Americas region, as well as a recovery from the South African operations, which experienced fewer safety-related stoppages. Section 54 and safety related stoppages at the group's South African operations continue to pose a threat to production rates from the region.

Tragically, five employee fatalities were recorded at incidents at the Great Noligwa, Mongbwalu and Obuasi and at TauTona. The company remains committed to eliminating occupational injuries at its mines through the continued implementation of its Project ONE operating model and improvement of safety and risk management protocols. Success to date is evident in its all accident frequency rate, which at 8.39 per million hours worked for the year to date represents a 60% improvement since 2007.

Outlook

Full year¹ 2012 expected production remains 4.3Moz-4.4Moz at a total cash cost of $780/oz - $805/oz. For the third quarter², production is expected to be around 1.07Moz-1.1Moz at a total cash cost of $835/oz - $865/oz.

¹ Assuming an exchange rate of R7.40/$ and an oil price of $110/barrel for the year.

² Assuming an exchange rate of R8.15/$ and an oil price of $100/barrel.

³ Bond carries effective yield to maturity of 5.2032%

As mentioned in the first quarter earnings release in 15 February 2012, the situation remains that both estimates could see some downside risk in the light of safety-related stoppages and other unforeseen factors. AngloGold Ashanti may not be able to reach the goals or meet the expectations set out in this report. Refer to the disclaimer in this communication or to the "Risk Factors" section in the prospectus supplement to AngloGold Ashanti's prospectus dated July 17, 2012 that was filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on July 25, 2012.
