Lonmin Update: Attendance Figures/Update

- The parties who signed the Peace Accord, plus AMCU, have asked the Commission for Conciliation, Mediation and Arbitration (CCMA) to engage the striking workers and impress on them the need for negotiations within the framework of the law.
- Lonmin remains committed to negotiating the demands of the striking workers within the confines of South Africa's laws.
- Lonmin condemns the ongoing intimidation and threats to life and property. No business can operate in an environment where threats and intimidation are the order of the day. The continuing efforts of a minority to keep the mine closed through threats of violence now pose a real and significant threat to jobs. Lonmin urges those on strike to negotiate their demands peacefully and lawfully.

Further background:

- Attendance today: 3% average attendance across all shafts this morning
- The signatories to the peace accord held a meeting, facilitated by the CCMA, outside Rustenburg yesterday (Monday) afternoon. AMCU was also present. The Anglican bishop, Joe Seoka, delivered a message on behalf of the striking workers.

About Lonmin:

Lonmin, which is listed on both the London Stock Exchange and the Johannesburg Stock Exchange, is one of the world's largest primary producers of Platinum Group Metals (PGMs). These metals are essential for many industrial applications, especially catalytic converters for internal combustion engine emissions, as well as their widespread use in jewellery.

Lonmin's operations are situated in the Bushveld Complex in South Africa, where nearly 80% of global PGM resources are found.

The Company creates value for shareholders through mining, refining and marketing PGMs and has a vertically integrated operational structure – from mine to market. Lonmin's mining operations extract ore from which the Process Division produces refined PGMs for delivery to customers. Underpinning the operations is the Shared Services function which provides high quality levels of support and infrastructure across the operations.
